

THE INSTITUTE OF INTERNAL AUDITORS
2021 GLOBAL AWARDS

CALL FOR AWARDS NOMINATIONS

BRADFORD CADMUS MEMORIAL AWARD

For contributions to the global profession of internal auditing

VICTOR Z. BRINK AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

For contributions to the profession through global service to The IIA

WILLIAM G. BISHOP III, CIA LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

For impact on the global profession through a lifetime of accomplishments and dedication to The IIA

The Institute of Internal Auditors (“The IIA”) is asking for nominations for its three highest and most prestigious awards. All three awards recognize individuals who have made outstanding achievements in the field of internal auditing. The Bradford Cadmus Memorial Award is given to individuals who have contributed significantly to the advancement of the global profession. The Victor Z. Brink Award for Distinguished Service honors IIA members for their service to The IIA. And the William G. Bishop III, CIA Lifetime Achievement Award honors IIA members who have shown extraordinary leadership and dedication over a lifetime of service to the global profession.

Recipients of these awards receive complimentary registration for The IIA’s 2021 International Conference, which will be virtually in June 2021, and special recognition at the conference as well as social media outlets. They will also receive lifetime honorary membership in The IIA and complimentary registration to future international conferences.

You are encouraged to consider carefully the criteria for each award and to recommend worthy candidates for the honor. Nominations should be as complete as possible with detailed information provided on the official form. Attach an additional sheet if necessary. Multiple nominations for the same candidate from different members are permissible, but each must be submitted separately. Nominations are reviewed and judged by a specially-appointed committee.

Please note that all forms must be completed in English and returned by February 12, 2021.

BRADFORD CADMUS MEMORIAL AWARD

The Bradford Cadmus Memorial Award is one of the highest honors or tributes bestowed by The IIA on individuals impacting the internal auditing profession. It was created in 1965 in memory of Bradford Cadmus, the first Managing Director of The Institute, to recognize IIA members or non-members who have made outstanding global contributions in the field of internal auditing.

Nominations for the award are considered annually on the basis of nominees' achievements and their contributions to research, education, publications, or other developments and activities in the field of internal auditing. Since 1966, the Bradford Cadmus Memorial Award has been bestowed upon 53 outstanding practitioners, stakeholders, educators or supporters of the profession of internal auditing.

Incumbent members of the Global Board and the Awards Committee, as well as paid employees of The IIA, are not eligible to receive the award.

There is no obligation to bestow the award in any year. The number of awards to be made in a single year is left to the discretion of the awards committee.

The deadline for receipt of nominations is February 12, 2021.

VICTOR Z. BRINK AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

The Board of Directors of The IIA established the award in the original Bylaws of The IIA to recognize individuals who have given outstanding and exceptional service to the profession of internal auditing through participation in the global activities of The Institute of Internal Auditors. This Distinguished Service Award is named in honor of Victor Z. Brink, one of the original founders of The IIA and a renowned auditor, educator, author, lecturer, and advocator of the profession until his death in 1992.

Only IIA members are eligible to receive the award. Members of the Global Board of Directors, excluding the Past Chairman retiring from the Global Board; members of the Awards Committee; and employees of The IIA shall not be eligible to receive the award. Nominations will be judged based on the member's service to The IIA on a global level, particularly in such areas as recognized contributions as an IIA leader; influence on membership growth or certification; contributions to educational deliverables for the profession; or contributions to the growth of our chapters and affiliates. Accomplishments should extend beyond contributions to a particular chapter or affiliate.

There is no obligation to bestow the award in any year. With the intent to recognize truly distinguished service by IIA members, no more than two awards can be made in a single year.

The deadline for receipt of nominations is February 12, 2021.

Previous Recipients - Victor Z. Brink Award for Distinguished Service

Note: Prior to 1994 all Chairmen of the Board automatically received the DSA Award. The award criteria was changed in 1994 to require review by a committee, and to encourage recipients other than, or in addition to, past Chairmen.

WILLAM G. BISHOP III, CIA LIFETIME ACHIEVEMENT AWARD

The IIA's Board of Directors formally established the William G. Bishop III, CIA Lifetime Achievement award in December 2004 to recognize individual members who, through a lifetime of accomplishments and dedication to The IIA, have impacted the international practice of internal auditing, advanced the awareness of The IIA, and inspired professionals around the world to make a difference in our profession and in the organizations we serve.

The award has been presented to the following recipients:

- In 2000 to Lawrence B. Sawyer, recognized worldwide as “the father of modern internal auditing.”
- In 2002 to Mortimer Dittenhofer, recognized for his lifetime promotion of internal auditing in government and education.
- In 2004 to William G. Bishop III (posthumously), for his impact on the global profession culminating from his 12 years as IIA president.
- In 2008 to William L. Taylor for his extraordinary leadership and dedication over a lifetime of service to the global profession of internal auditing and The IIA.
- In 2016 to Patricia K. Miller, recognized for her extraordinary leadership and dedication to the profession as practitioner, volunteer, speaker, instructor, author and mentor to scores of young professionals.
- In 2017 to Dennis K. Beran, known as the “encourager of volunteers” and recognized as a role model for his dedication and volunteerism to the profession promoting internal auditing’s relevance around the globe.
- In 2019 to Gerald D. Cox, recognized for his exceptional volunteer service and professional contributions during a career in internal audit spanning nearly four decades.

The award is open to members of The IIA who have shown extraordinary leadership and dedication over a lifetime of service to the global profession and to The IIA. Members must be well-known and well-respected globally, and must have had a major impact on the development or the furthering of the profession. While not required, members may have already received other prestigious awards of The IIA, e.g., the Bradford Cadmus Memorial Award or the Victor Z. Brink Award for Distinguished Service.

It is anticipated that the award will be given infrequently. Candidates should be near the end of their careers in internal auditing (or related fields) and near the end of their active involvement with The IIA.

The deadline for receipt of nominations is February 12, 2021
